

Sponsored Editorial

When a banner just isn't enough!

SPONSORED EDITORIAL
ProLite's Ultra Lights earn attention
 Part of the reason for the company's success is that they ensure high standards of quality by subjecting every trailer manufactured to a 71-point checklist as it comes off the line. The checklist looks at major components such as appliance functionality or overall fit and finish, as well as little things like making sure the brochures are where they should be.

AMERICA'S LARGEST RV SHOW
 & I Clinic with Tim Spencer

EverGreen's Ever-Lite rated "Best Buy"
 (May 10, 2012) -- "One of the newest manufacturers (EverGreen) introduced lightweight fifth wheels and travel trailers that have shells and other components that are

^ RV Daily Report home page
< RV Daily Report newsletter

Your story – Your way!

Sponsored editorial content lets you tell your story, your way. The RV Daily Report staff will interview your key leaders and write a feature story about your company and its products or services. Once you review and approve the article, it will be posted on RV Daily Report's home page for an entire week, as well as in the daily newsletter.

Benefits:

- Professionally written
- Third-party endorsement
- You control the message
- Considerable exposure
- Stories include images
- Includes links to click through for more info
- Search engine optimized on major news website

Features:

- 1,250 word company-edited article
- Up to four images at no cost
- Home page placement for one week
- Highlighted in top half of newsletter for one week

Additional Options at special pricing:

- 468x90 banner placed at top of the story
- 768x90 banner placed at bottom of story
- 468x90 banner on home page next to story

Complete package!

Compare this to a full-page ad in a single issue of any RV-related magazine.

- One week home page exposure with a feature story
- One week newsletter exposure with a teaser to the feature
- One week premium home page banner space
- One week premium newsletter banner space

That's daily exposure for an entire month with recorded click-thrus redirected to your website.

For more information, contact:

Pam Petersen
 253.301.1883
 pam@rvdailyreport.com

Online advertising beats print media every day!